To whom it may concern,

Chenxi "Richard" Guo worked as a key team member in his capstone project that I supervised in Queensland University of Technology during which he made significant contributions to the completion and delivery of a web-based project management system based on Node.JS, MySQL and jQuery.

Richard is enthusiastic and committed to delivering quality outcomes and has a great deal of attention to details. He represented the team and their delivered outcomes in a number of meetings very well and made great contributions to the compilation of architectural artefacts and reports related to the project.

I strongly believe that his technical skills, enthusiasm and commitment can get him started in a wide range of roles despite being at an early stage of his career.

Should you have any enquiries, please feel free to reach me on Hamish.Sadler@hdr.qut.edu.au.

Sincerely,
