December 24, 2020

To Whom It May Concern,

Mr. Chenxi (Richard) GUO is a student in my course ELEC5619 Object Oriented Application Framework. It is a project-oriented course, where Richard worked as a key member in his team and made significant contributions to the completion and delivery of a web-based application for Covid-19 & travel system. Key technologies of the project include: Java, JS, MYSQL, jQuery and API integration.

I strongly believe that his technical skills, enthusiasm and commitment can get him started in a wide range of roles despite being at the early stage of his career.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Dong Yuan
Senior Lecturer
School of Electrical and Information Engineering,
The University of Sydney